

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A soil nailing system includes a temporary retaining wall for an excavation sidewall. Soil nails extend outwardly into the soil sidewall and are integrated with the temporary retaining wall. The soil nails comprise an easily shearable reinforcing rod 5 made, for example, of fiberglass so that the area containing the soil nails can be excavated after permanent walls are provided in the excavation.